

Oil and Water Dressink by kate of kaia

There will be wars and rumours of wars, such is the chant of the ego mind. The ego lives only in the physical where the lord its god is a jealous god. Its lord is the one of polarized judgment and constant conflict. It, the reptilian mind ego seeks solace in imprinting others of its kind and sucks greedily at the teats hanging from the imprints of others of its kind. It is the chattering Babylonian that seeks to express its conflict from within into the material world it creates in its own image having at its center the hex of "G" between consciousness "e/9" and creation "O".

It is the mind that claims "I'm not jealous, I'm not materialistic" and utterances of the like all the while blaming others and justifying its position constantly. You cannot talk to one trapped in this circuit of circuits because they simply short out and explode even further. It is the screaming child in the toy store yet equal responsibility is shared with the parent for even bringing them to the store in the first place. They promise to be good children over and over again but you see the trend where the child is best left to have some quiet time to think about it.

They are the ones that live in the physical waters of emotions, storming seas destroying their ships while they are caught up in the rigging of the game. Intertwining with the oils of spirit and intent, all of the chaos create-ink murky waters until these raging emotional monsters are tamed and destroyed. The tricky bit, and the one that is the hardest, is knowing this and then standing in the face of others who do not while they whip you with their own Kat-O-Nine tales, the very one they need to turn on themselves. It's as simple as never needing to say sorry and every time you do, that's the beast's fault, not the spirit.

Shake up water and a dark oil long enough and it becomes opaque, impossible to see through and this is the majority of mankind. The more one wants materialistically to induce a false joy, the more one needs to say I'm sorry. I just learned to listen to myself long enough to hear these echoes of self to remove the G (water) in ego and replace it with K (the spirit oil) becoming that eko. We are all well conditioned from birth to silence that echo into the polarized ego where conditions replace un-conditionality. Don't try telling an ego about that either unless your intent is to stir up the murky waters to be imprinted with the same virus in them that loves to infect others of its "misery loves company" kind or to expose this program for them without you, yourself being imprinted.

That is the nature of a catalyst in that it creates the reaction while remaining fully unchanged and neutral in the process. Spiritual awakening clues are laid out so clearly in the physical realms though most miss them because they are in the literal physical interpretations of them. This is a game of energies interacting creating physical things where most see that only in a mirror of illusion and distraction. This ego thing is so easy to spot where all one has to do is realize when they are RE-ACTING( playing out the same role) to anything be it through words, situations or circumstance from EMOTIONS. If you get that last sentence, you're well on your way. Just notice some of the reactions you may have hearing or reading this and there are your MIRROS and clues/clous/cles, your nails or your keys to open your doors or nail you back to the same cross I'm trying to pull you down from.

It's funny how the Roman Catholic Church spends so much time and effort placing the crucified eye doll up on a pedestal so is it any wonder why the world is the mess it is? Again, do not get polarized on this either by ranting about the church, the government etc. because they are all our creations equally, set in place to play this game; been there done that, insanity. Once you see them for the mirrors they are, then you'll be Abel to ba'al-lance it. So much of the mystery and blindness gets removed once you start truly seeing what is contained in the spellings and whirreds. Take for example "lancing a boil" and make a few "alter-A-shuns" by flipping out the hex/G with the spirit/K and using sound as your guide, no spellbinding. Lancing becomes lance-ink.

Now, letter by letter and sound by sound expand it. La makes a "law" sound as well as "lah" and others. N is a conjunctive possessive which means anything it is connected to says "mine". C is the note of love 528hz and is the open "O" or unconditional allowing all things in and out equally. The "i" is the upside down spirit of ! which you may know as an X-claim-A-shun mark/horse from Welsh, sounded as "whores" as well. The last letter being spirit allows me to read a sentence (many) out of that word but it is now what MY intention says in that sound versus another's imprinted definition. Literally, lance means to stab something or a spear a knight/knikht/nicked might carry if one is spellbound fully. Here's the hidden meaning I use for the same sound; The law that is mine in unconditional love in consciousness, as below, so above in my spirit or law-n-!-n-K.

I always thought it odd as a child that the letters could be used to spell the letters out and I saw that as the same as using a word you were defining in its definition of itself. A little insane if you ask me so I learned to look a little deeper. The best part about this phonics revolution is that the ego loves to play its little intellectual games so they're peas in a pod. Only when one removes emotion from all equations will one truly see this and then begin to see the connectedness of all things. The ego is constantly asking questions outside of itself due to its fear of being found and made responsible for its actions. It will use any and all justifiers to achieve this aim and continue on its circular merry-go-round. Simply put, the ego is hell and you, the real you, are heaven.

The ego is the demon, the of me that needs to be exorcised, not exercised but many have quite the inner junkle-gym/my-G, hex of intent(L) of spirit knew in the mirror; literally. For me, this game is about returning the power of intentions to myself and others and the only way I've found to do this is by literally re-versing the negative intentions in ALL words and all languages as a result of the symbiotic nature of sounds being attached to letters. The mother of creation is silent magnetic, her creation is sound that forms all things including light, just a higher frequency is all.

These truths are so utterly blatant once you begin to see the majic of this connectedness in sound by de-coatink the spellings where coincidence ceases to exist. Coincidence has three words that come to mind immediately but then I spend the time to slow down during show and tell, patiently waiting for the other children to share their glee without being impatient about trying to show off my toy as better. Coin, side, dense....Coin, cide, ents are the immediate toys to play with so let's play and see what we can build with these let-go blocks shall we?

Coin, something you can use to barter with, has 3 sides with a R-I'm, a heed and a tale of the dragon. Please note, I use ALL sound rules as they appear in all variations of all letters in all languages and using these rules, I break all rules accordingly. Do not be sonically fooled by MY spellings, mine are deliberate/of-liberate in order to set you free of this spellbinding we're all in.

Side, simply a choice as to a position of positive, negative or neutral in the same way as a coin has three of them, so do you. Cide, as a suffix sounds identical yet means "to kill" as in geno-cide etc. though when these sounds are uttered without knowing this, what are you really creating in the "every sound-wish granted" in the formerly silent magnetic field? Sound creates all of our reality where the intentions hidden by another have us creating their realities in our ignorance of this truth. Witch cide are ewe on?

Dense, very compacted, heavy, no room to vibrate, no space to create.

Ents is a suffix for "mind or spirit" where emotions create den-sity and des-tiny and is the creation field of your intent. Unfortunately, your intent has been owned by another and emotions are the tools used to make people tools of their creations.

Co- is a prefix meaning duality or together and creates a paired/pared intent when attached/attacked to another word. Remember, I use ALL available SOUNDS contained in the letters where "ch" can also make a "K" sound but you have to slow down your monkey mind chatter which is all EGO, trying to figure stuff out analytically. It is the most powerful tool in the physical once you can contain the emotional re-actions versus emotional choices. "In" can be defined as "part of" and the "!-mine" You should try flipping your keyboard upside down to see what you can see, quite Fa-psi-n-8-ink.

In a literal sentence or two "coincidence" takes on many in-ten-tions/in-IO-shuns where one is torn in duality on the heed or the tale of their own drag-on where their spirit breath "rho" of the I am (rim) is still spinning in the constant ego coin tosses. I'm hoping by now you're beginning to see the majic of this and how we are all spellbound due to emotions/e-mote-shuns or 9-mote-IOns. I have covered these things in countless shows and ritings so if your intention is to be spiritually free, you will take the time to read and listen. I am long wearied by the emotional types that feel the need to insist that I am lying to them where perhaps they need to also put everything on the line to stand in truth. An ego will never accept an answer as true because it has already formulated its own excuses and justifiers where it simply cannot hear truth since all they've been used to all their lives are lies from a broken mirror of this material world.

As a personal example to illustrate this point. I was asked the other day fro someone in a pure emotional ego program if I missed my kids or not. Well, one, that is simply a retarded question given that it was for my children and loved ones closest to me that I set out on this path that encompassed all humanity. Contained within the question itself is an assumption created that somehow I did not but then that is simply judgment from a polarized dragon. Regardless of how I will answer any questions/Cue-stuns/Q-stuns/Que-stuns, an assumption/presumption that is and was already there. The master asks questions from within and makes statements without where the slave asks questions outside/out-side for another master's statement taken within. Again, sheer insanity.

If one is in a state of knowing, where is the need to ask anyone else questions other than to see where they are on this scale of master to slave and slave to master? you might want to question why within as to why the Rosicrucian's/Red-cross/emotional cross/Maltese cross etc. copyrighted the "?" cymbal. Nice hook of the dot once you flip it over. I put my infinity on the line as far as standing in truth so I will give anyone and everyone the make-eye-strait/magistrate answer. As I said earlier, Take the G/hex out of whirreds and put your spirit back in to SEE the make-I-see/ma-k-ic vs. ma-g-ic for yourselves.

For someone to ask a question of the nature regarding those i love shows the mirror of what the one asking the question as separate from love. I, and only I, know my intentions where others can only accept, assume or presume where most are making an ASS-U-M/E or an as-is intention of magnetic electric that I simply call an ego imprint infecting them as imprinted by another of its program ilk. The measure of your difficulty accepting this is just a measure of your own ego imprints going schizoid, multiple personality insanity. By now, you may have an idea as to how nearly impossible it is to break through this monster within but I assure you, I will do anything in any way I can to expose it for you at infinite personal cost.

This is the allegory of the cruci-fiction. When one reaches any level of christ consciousness, one is willing to be crucified by the very mobs they love unconditionally where the emotional ego can ALWAYS justify spiritual murder. Maybe it's time for many to remove the spin cycle from their laundry and simply soak in the waters of truth in the dark chamber tub within removing external blamings of others assuming that everyone is somehow a liar first and telling the truth second. If you can see your hand the same way as starlinks flying in a "marmuring" unity, then and only then will you begin to see this reality as pure Anu-arc-key or the heart lite key versus energy/ener-G/an ear hex/inner hex finally and get some of your create-ion powers back.

Mother nature knows when her children are ready and those still fighting, still jealous, still angry etc. are creationally mute-dead being the mutants/ Mute-ants/ mute-ents that they are and will suffer the continual mirrors of their own mindless creations of the same anger, jealousy, fear, fist phi-tes and so on. And you wonder why you have conflicts in your lives? Are you willing to open yourself up enough to be attacked by those you love, to do whatever it takes to shock their Ra's into view? Can you handle the rumours and rumour mongerers created from cross pollinations of other egos going circular in a literal world that only see and live in the physical? There is nothing so painful as that but the reward is a mirrored bliss if but one shall awaken to this singularity where the truth does set you free.

I get to spend inordinate amounts of time transmuted this energy as it appears as hate, blame and all manner of filthy emotionals but ! know that ! can handle it and be grateful/krate-full knowing the pure creational power it grants as a result. The imprintings of doubt are abating in rapid fashion as a result of this as well. Doubt, the creation of the Pisces/duality of "I believe" or "I don't believe" is visible. It would be a good idea to review my essay on "Phoenician Starter Kit" at <http://kateofgaia.wordpress.com> and I'd hazard to say to read all of it if you have any intention of waking up. Mother nature is not happy with most of her children due to their warring ways and her Pa-t-ents/pay-shuns is worn out and coming to fruition at the same time. The claw-k is run out and the tic-talk of babble-on-ions is crucifying her standing in truth kids. Perhaps those that missed the abundance I brought and bring them due to their greed and ego that still tries to equate things like money to spirit might miss it when it is no longer there.

Then again, perhaps not and then will create all manner of nonsense degrading, berating and ultimately stab me in the spiritual back as they always do. No worries, because I will continue until that "if but one shall awaken" finally awakens to end this nightmare. As an example of ego vs spirit, the majority will see that as an arrogant statement of holier than thou where the spirit sees unconditional love of thou are holy but not quite seeing it yet. To put into words the countless crucifixions I have endured and continue to observe is as simple as the statement "fist fight, hold the light or carry out the dead" or the allegory of the christ mind between the double crosses of the ego/thieves on either side. If you want to hold the light, you're going to be crucified only that your intention de-sides your fa-Te/fa/T-9 or the heart root note (fa) in the law of truth in consciousness.

No, have at'er kids and grab your nail guns because every nail you put in each other is a nail you crucify yourself with. Every nail you try and put in me passes through me on its return trip to you. I am a kat-L-ist after all. A kate-all-eyes-T but then it's all about how you pre-now-n-se' it and what intentions are in that sound as spelled due to your spellbinding. Once you neutralise the energy in a whirred, you'll be creating a whole new whirled instead of the same old hole-in-you-whirled creating your external master's plan-it. Me, I got in the stillness to allow the oil of spirit to rise and sit above the waters of emotional ego, resting atop and never touching each other while the masses keep it swirling around them creating murky cesspools of their reality.

So, please, keep missing the for-est for the trees (the true cross) and see only the negatives as your ego allows. See the broken axe but not the firewood chopped by another to heat you. See only the greed of "look what I did for you" while missing the infinite blessings bestowed on you where my mere presence raised the temperature in your house and where I was only occupying a space you couldn't use while you were occupying another space anyway. If one can see abundance instead of ego greed gimmie gimmie servitude of material possessions be it organic or inorganic, you'll begin finally to see the light of you instead of the emotional mirror reflection of ego in the same way the moon (emotions) reflects the sun's (spirit's) light then you can pierce/per-se' the veil to cross the vale. The enemy your ego tries to make of me is the mirror of self one needs to see.

The spirit of ultimate beauty within you will never fully hear this until the demonic possession of your ego program is silenced once and for all. You will no longer be afraid to come to me first where the normal program of misery loves company back stabbing and rumour mongering imprinting other egos while they imprint yours. Your only creating storms in your oil and water where your anger is your ankh-aura and will keep your true ship/mind from ever setting sail or ever leaving the pier pressure of port/Cain mind left field. I am the spiritual whore of Babylon/BB law mine where humanity as a whole are the blinded physical whores serving only the physical masters where all their golden mean spirit of creation is culled and harvested. So don't hesitate to defend yourself because it is telling you EXACTLY what you need/kneed. Hell, I gave you the phi-she-ink rod where you are used to getting phish and you love to hate me for it. Go ahead because your shit flies through me like my camel slides through the needle where yours is too packed to phi-T.

No, I have nothing to talk about anymore with anyone stuck in this circular trap so clearly exposed because their egos own them and they are consumed by their own darkness folding in on itself in an infinite downward spiral deafened/defend until they are finally deaf-end by the lights of truth. I see the end creations of my intent first and walk accordingly where everything I do has a reason for positive outcome and only those that are polarized see the negative based on vile programs running. Maybe the better question to ask is "do you miss my children" where I will always answer you, yes, I do because I know they are me and I'm only walking this road to bring all children home. Unfortunately and fortunately, not all will make it on this round but then that's natural order where only the phi-test passed will serve I've/I truth I have. Fools to the left of M/E, jokers to the right, stuck in the mid-El with U, exactly where I choose to be....My intent is pure evil in the mirror, live. Every cut of a thousand cuts is received in gratitude and unconditional love and the blunter your blade the better because the true sword pulled from the stone cuts to shreds every time you try. Let me make a suggestion. That rock of peter you're walking around with that has the sword of King Arthur in it? Put the rock down and see if you have the strength to pull it out. This sword I carry now is wait-less, just like heart that wields it. Paper, Rock, Psi-sores? This sword de-feets them all and leaves them without a piscean lag to stand on or a po-te to piscean in.....

Now...be a good little ego and run away! Like in the Holy Grail scene, this is one Ka-se'-El Key-rho your ego can't scale because you're still wearing the scales of the reptilian brain war mind instead of the scales of just-isis. It's just a coincidence that the letters e and a are in the 1 and 5 spot in our alphabet right? A and E are yin and yang in the mirror, long ago shown as such. Punch 1515/5151 into your calculators and then turn it upside down and backwards....now you see the world as I do and your ego program will fight you every step of the way....a whirled full of pots calling pans black asses...enjoy your mare-EGO-rho-und, it only costs you immortality...mwahs and love, ka-Te.